ASK THE OLD LADY.

A gentleman travelling out west relates the following amusing incident:

Riding on horseback just at night thro' the woods in Saginaw county Michigan, I came into a clearing, in the middle which stood a log house, its owner sitting in the open door smoking his pipe. Stopping my horse before him, the following conversation ensued:

'Good-evening sir,' said I.

'Good-evening.'

'Can I get a glass of milk from you to drink?'

'Well, I don't know. Ask the old woman.' By this time the wife was standing at his side.

'Oh yes,' said she, 'of course you can.'

While drinking it I asked:

'Think we are going to have a storm?'

'Well, I really don't know. Ask the old woman—she can tell.'

'I guess we shall get one right away,' said the wife.

Again I asked:

'How much land have you got cleared here?'

'Well, I really don't know. Ask the old woman—she knows.'

'About nineteen acres,' said she, again answering.

Just then a troop of children came running and shouting around the corner of the shanty.

'Are these your children?' said I.

'Don' know. Ask the old woman—she knows best.'

I didn't wait to hear the reply, but drew rein, and left immediately.

'AMONG all my boys,' said an old man, 'never had but one boy who took after me, and that was my son Aaron, who took after me with a club.'

DANIEL WEBSTER ON PAPER MONEY.

In 1815 Daniel Webster, then a young member of Congress from New Hampshire, said in a speech in the House:

Whenever bank-notes are not convertible into gold and silver at the will of the holder, they become of less value than gold and silver. All experiments on this subject have come to the same result. The depreciation may not be sensibly perceived the first day, or the first week, it takes place. It will first be seen in, what called the rise of specie; it will next be seen in the increased price of all commodities. The circulating medium must be something which has a value abroad as well as at home, and by which foreign as well as domestic debts can be satisfied. The precious metals alone answer these purposes. They alone, therefore, are money, and whatever else is to perform the offices of money must be their representative, and capable of being turned into them at will. So long as bank paper retains this quality it is a substitute for money; divested of this, nothing can give it that character. No solidity of funds, no sufficiency of assets, no confidence in the solvency of banking institutions, has ever enabled them to keep up their paper to the value of gold and silver any longer for it on demand.

In the next year, 1816, he made an other speech, in which he said:

Wars and invasions are not always the most certain destroyers of national prosperity. They announce their own approach, and the general security is preserved by the general alarm. Not so with the evils of a debased coin, a depreciated paper currency, or a depressed and failing public credit. Not so with the plausible and insidious mischiefs of a paper money system. These insinuate themselves in the shape of facilities, accommodation and relief. They hold out the most fallacious hope of an easy payment of debts and a lighter burden of taxation.

In 1833, as a Senator of Massachusetts, Mr. Webster said in a speech:

We are in danger of being overwhelmed with irredeemable paper, mere paper, representing not gold nor silver; no, sir; representing nothing but broken promises, bad faith, bankrupt corporations, cheated creditors and a ruined people.

In a speech in 1836 he said:

If we wish to restore the public credit and to re-establish the finances we have a beaten road before us. All true analogy, all experience, and all just knowledge of ourselves and our condition, point one way. A wise and systematic economy and a settled and substantial revenue, are the means to be relied on; not excessive issues of bank notes, a forced circulation and all the miserable contrivances to which political folly can resort, with the idle expectation of giving to mere paper the quality of money. These are the inventions of a short-sighted policy, vexed and goaded by the necessities of the moment, and thinking less of a permanent remedy than of shifts and expedients to avoid the present distress. They have been a thousand times adopted, and a thousand times exploded as delusive and ruinous, as destructive of all solid revenue and incompatible with the security of private property.

ABLAZE WITH DIAMONDS.—Mrs. Astor, the wife of the hundred millionarie of New York, appeared at a party given at her Fifth Avenue residence one evening last week, at which she literallly blazed with diamonds. On each side of her shoulders she had four stars, the size of silver dollars, made of diamonds. Her hair was set thickly with diamonds, and her head seemed aflame with them. There was a diamond bandeau upon her brow. She had diamond earrings, and a diamond necklace of magnificent proportions. Upon the two sides of her chest were two circles of diamonds about the size of the palm of her hand. From them depended lines and curves of diamonds reaching to he waist, around which she wore a diamond girdle. On the skirts of her dress in front were too large peacocks wrought of lines of diamonds. There were rosettes of diamonds on her slippers. There were diamonds, large or small, but in every variety and form, all over her dress and person wherever they could be artistically placed. She presented an extraordinary, dazzling spectacle. A connoisseur in precious stones, who was present, says the diamonds she wore could not have cost not less than a million dollars.

The great bell for the Cologne Cathedral, named the 'Emperor William,' has just been finished, and it is said to be the largest bell in the world. It weighs about 60,000 pounds, is eighteen feet high and fourteen wide. The first moulding of the bell proved a failure, and considerable difficulty has yet to be overcome in transporting the immense mass from Frankenthal, where it was cast, to the top of the tower of the Cologne Cathedral.

A gentleman rode up to a public house in the country, and asked:

'Who is the master of this house?'

'Iam, sir,' replied the landlord; 'my wife has been dead about three weeks.'

THE GREAT FAMINE IN INDIA.

New York, Feb. 24.

A London special says an eminent correspondent of the London News, in a letter to that paper descriptive of the India famine, says: 'The scarcity spreads over a wide tract along the foot of the Himilaya boundaries of Nepaul, stretching from Oude to near Darjeeling, remote districts removed from the railroads and other means of communication and difficult to approach. Lord Northbrooke informs me that most serious distress is threatened in fifteen districts, in addition to Tetas, comprising a total population of 26,000,000. These are not all. Twelve other districts, 14,000,000 people, are threatened, and are described as almost entirely without food and water. The Coolies feel the pinch most, owing to a total suspension of work in the rice fields. The government contemplated, prior to the outbreak of the distress, certain public works: 'First, irrigating of canals; secondly, the Northern Bengal Railroad; and lastly, the embankment of the Gundeck River. In the first named 32,000 laborers have been employed. Their wages were paid and the money exchanged for goods at an adjacent government store. Lord Northbroke says the government has arranged for sufficient food till May, with large reserves to meet contingencies.

The calculations are based on former famines, but it seems doubtful whether they will prove adequate, owing to the fact that large numbers died without asking for relief. The district at present is more remote, and transportation is growing difficult for want of food for the cattle. The correspondent concluded as follows: 'From what I have seen since my arrival in India, I believe, first, neither the government nor the people can tell the precise actual condition nor prognosticate the future; secondly, the government is most fully alive to its responsibilities, and measures have been taken to fully cope with the difficulties; thirdly, the absence of railroads in remote districts is mostly dreaded, as the government is without means for the avoidance of grave obstacles.'

ALL MIXED UP.

A certain witness in an assault and battery suit we once heard, mixed up things considerably in giving his account of the affair. After relating how Dennis came to time and struck him, he proceeded:

'So, yer Honor, I just hauld off and wiped his jaw. Just then his dog come along, and I bit him again.'

'Hit the dog?'

'No, yer Honor, bit Dennis. And then I up with a stone and throwed it at him, and rolled him over and over.'

'Threw a stone at Dennis?'

'At the dog, yer honor. And he got up and bit me again.'

'The dog?'

'No, Dennis. And with that he stuck his tail betwixt his legs and run off.'

'Dennis?'

'No, the dog. And when he came back at me he got me down and pounded me, yer Honor.'

'The dog came back at you?'

'No, Dennis, yer Honor—and he isn't hurt at all.'

'Who is hurt?'

'The dog, yer Honor.'

ATTACKED BY VAMPIRES.

What an awful item this is for the worshippers of mere Nature. It is meant to excite the self-protective industry of Man—He who looks upward—to the destruction of the horrible creatures? or to incite him to the disgust of mere Materialism, the thing called 'common sense?'—

'A gentleman states that, while in Surinam, he awoke about four o'clock one morning, and was considerably alarmed by finding himself weltering in congealed blood, and was unable to account for this, as he felt no pain whatever. 'This mystery,' says he, 'was that I had been bitten by a vampire, or spectre of Guana, which is also called the flying dog of New Spain. This is no other than a bat of monstrous size, that sucks the blood from men and cattle while they are fast asleep, even, sometimes, till they die; and as the manner in which they proceed is truly wonderful, I will endeavor to give a clear account of it. Knowing by instinct that the person that they intend to attack is in a sound slumber, they generally alight near the feet, where, while the creature continues fanning with his enormous wings, which keeps one cool, he bites a piece out of the great toe, so very small indeed that the head of a pin could scarcely be received in the wound, which is consequently not painful; yet through this orifice he continues to suck the blood until he is obliged to disgorge. He then begins again, and thus continues sucking and disgorging until he is scarcely able to fly, and the sufferer has often been known to pass from time to eternity. Cattle they generally bite in the ear, but always places where the blood flows spontaneously. Having applied tobacco ashes, as the best remedy, and washed the gore from myself and hammock, I observed several heaps of congealed blood all around the place where I had lain, upon the ground, on examining which the surgeon judged that I had lost about fourteen ounces of blood.'

POLITE PICKPOCKETS.

Among the English visitors to Paris during the gay season of the new year were several pickpockets, who were, however, in most cases received by the police of the festive city, so that, as the American poet sings, 'the subsequent proceedings interested them no more.' There were some of the elite of the English practitioners—who are, however, rivalled, if not excelled, in dexterity and ubiquity by their French compeers. The following story is told of the latter by a French journal: 'A physician officially connected with the prison of La Force and much beloved by this light-fingered patients, perceived on leaving the Varieties one evening that his pocket had been picked and that his opera-glass was gone. Next day, on meeting the denizens of La Force, he expressed his displeasure at the occurrence. "It is all very well," said he, "for you to say I am popular among you, but I am treated just as others are. Some of your friends contrived to relieve me of my opera-glass last night, at the Varieties." "That was only because they did not know you, doctor," replied a prisoner. "Who was on duty at the Varieties last night?" he required, tuning to a comrade. The answer was given in a whisper. "You shall have your glass to morrow," he added. Next day a person called on the physician's wife. 'Here,' said he, 'are all the opera-glasses stolen two nights ago at the Varieties. Please to point out the doctor's.' The lady having done so, the obliging pickpocket handed it to her, restored the others to their cases, and disappeared.—Pall Mall Gazette.

SNOW IN ST. PETERSBURG.

A correspondent of the Hartford Post gives this account of the singular way in which snow falls at St. Petersburg:

'The cold steadily increased for perhaps ten days, when a little snow began to fall, and almost every day since a little has fallen, till now there is perhaps six inches. There has been little, or no, wind, though one day it blew some and about 10 inches of snow fell, which is called here quite a storm. I learn there are never any snow storms in this part of Russia during which more than six inches of snow falls. But the acquisition of snow is constant. It does not appear to come from the clouds, but the water held in solution in the atmosphere, which is very damp, it being so near the sea, and country perfectly flat, congeals and crystalizes and then falls slowly but constantly half an inch, or perhaps less, per day. No one carries an umbrella, as it does not snow fast enough to get wet in, and nobody minds it, but they walk, ride or skate all the time. Hundreds of men work constantly sweeping the sidewalks, crosswalks and streets. It is not in sufficient quantity to shovel, but is swept into heaps and carried off, leaving only enough in the streets to insure good sleighing. In this manner, I learn, it will fall for a month or two longer, and, while there will be perhaps three or four feet in the country, there will never be enough in this city to impede travel, and I believe the horse-cars, of which there are many run all winter.'

SAN FRANCISCO, April 1.—A dispatch from Austin, Nevada, to-night, gives the particulars of a horrible tragedy in Smoky Valley, in that State. It appears that Christopher Reckstern had been for a long time jealous of his wife in consequence of attentions paid to her by a young man named Norton, and they had frequent quarrels about him. Yesterday a man named Osterhaus went to Reckstern's house, and receiving no response to his demands for admission, broke open the door. On the floor lay the naked body of Mrs. Reckstern, cut into pieces, and the head split open. At her feet were the bodies of two little girls with their heads nearly cut off, and near by were the dead bodies of Reckstern and young Norton, grappled as if in a death struggle. Reckstern grasped in his right hand a large bowie knife covered with blood, and in Norton's right hand was a dragoon pistol, two chambers of which were discharged. There is no living witness to the terrible affair.

VNGEANCE OF THE LAW.

Edgefield is known as the fighting district of South Carolina. Murders are common there. The criminal docket of this county, which had not been disposed of for some time, has just been finished up by Judge Carpenter, who pronounced the following sentences:—Thomas Padgett, convicted of murder, sentenced to be executed on the 29th of May. Henry Kilcrease for murder, sentenced to be executed on the 22d of May; Patrick West, for murder, sentenced to be executed on the 5th of June; John Mitchell, for murder, sentenced to be executed on the 3d of July.

This reminds one of the 'bloody assizes,' of England, when the cruel Jeffreys covered the sword of justice and the butcher knife, with which he destroy the object of his wrath. With this difference, however, that in Edgefield only plain justice is executed, and no persecution of criminals.—Charlotte Observer.

A WHOLE FAMILY IN HEAVEN.

We take this eloquent passage from one of the sermons of Rev. Albert Barnes:

'A whole family in heaven! Who can picture or describe the everlasting Joy? No one absent. No father nor son, nor daughter, are away. In the morning of the resurrection, they ascend together. Before the throne they bow together in united adoration. On the banks of the river of life they walk hand in hand, and as a family, have commenced a career of glory which shall be everlasting.—There is hereafter to be no more separation in that family. No one is to lie down on a bed of pain. In heaven never is that family to move in the slow procession, clad in the habiliments of woe, to consign one of its members to the tomb. God grant in his mercy every family may be thus united.

An Irishman was requested by a lady, notorious for her parsimonious and niggardly habits, to do for her some handiwork. The job was performed to her complete satisfaction.

'Pat,' said the old miser, 'I must treat you.'

'God bless your honor, ma'am,' replied Pat.

'Which would you prefer, a glass of porter, or a tumble of punch?'

'I don't wish to be troublesome, ma'am,' said the Hibernian, turning around and winking at the thin-ribbed butler, 'but I'll take the one while you are making the other.'

The Danville people are excited on the subject of a free bridge across the Dan at that place. The near approach to the completion of the L & D R R gives the subject an interest it has not had before.

There either must be free access to the Depot if it is located on the North side of the river or the rail road company must bring the road into the town, or Danville will lose much of the benefit of the road.

WOULD NOT GO.—A commodore being confined to his room by a severe fit of the gout, some sweeps were employed to sweep the chimneys of the house next door to him, and one of the boys by mistake came down in the commodore's apartment. The boy, confused at his mistake, seeing the commodore in bed, said, 'Sir, my master will come for you presently.' 'Will he?' said the commodore, leaping out of bed, 'I beg to be excused for staying here any longer, then,' and immediately ran down the stairs.

A good mother was trying to explain to a young hopeful, the other day, about fighting against the devil. After telling the little fellow who he was, and how hard he was to be successful resist, he turned around and said: 'Mamma, I'd be scared of the old devil; but if I was to come across one of the little devils, I'd knock the stuffing out of him.'

A farmer lost a gimlet in the woods near Monticello, Minnesota, three years ago, and the other day cut down an iron wood tree, fast in the forks of which he found—not a gimlet, but a three-quarter inch augur! He is sorry he didn't wait a year or two longer, as a two inch augur was just what he wanted.

Two little girls were comparing progress in the study of their cate-chisms. 'I've got to original sin,' said one; 'how far have you got?' 'Me? why, I'm away beyond redemption,' said the other; at which her mother, who happened to hear this conversation, thought she had gone quite far enough.

The rage for ending female names in the French 'i. e.' has come to a disastrous conclusion in Oregon. A farmer named Ake, christened his eldest girl Bellie. She, adopting the style of the Mollies, Susies and Nellies of the region, got some cards printed 'Bellie,' and now appears to a distressed world as Miss Bellie Ake.

It is a wondrous future indeed that lies before America, but in her annals of years to come as in those of the past, there will be found few names that can rival in unsullied lustre that of the heroic defender of his native Virginia—Robert Edward Lee.—Gov. Cheney.

A wag, observing the door of a house the name of two physicians, remarked that it put him in mind of a double barrelled gun; if one missed the other would be sure to kill.

The Danville Register says the contractors on the Lynchburg and Danville Road are now laying the track between Banister river and Cartersville. This approached so near Danville, that the good people are talking of the coming celebration and will make ample preparations for it.

Since Queen Victoria took her place on the English throne, thirty-six years ago, every other throne in Europe, from the least unto the greatest, has changed its occupant.

'I'm particularly unique on this point,' said the fly to the young gentleman who stuck him on the end of a needle.

Hillsborough Recorder.

WEDNESDAY [illegible] APRIL 15, 1874.

DISTRICT CONVENTION.

The District Convention of the Democratic Conservative party for the nomination of a candidate for Congress for the fourth Congressional District will be held in the City of Raleigh on Tuesday, the 2nd day of June 1874.

Every county in the District is earnestly requested to send a full delegation. Arrangements will be made with the various Rail Roads to pass delegates at half fare.

By order of the District Executive Committee. H. A. LONDON, Jr. Chairman.

We call attention to the above with the hope that it will excite timely and considerate action. The Chairman has done his part. It now remains for each county to do the same. There should be no delay in the counties, Chatham, Orange, Wake, Johnson, Franklin, Nash and Granville, in the appointment of delegates.

This District can be redeemed. There can be no doubt that vigorious effort and a proper candidate on the Conservative side can save it from farther radical representation. Surely the people must have at length learned how much of their own fate is in their own hands, and how much they are responsible for misgovernment. Surely they must see how much it is the interest of office holders to maintain the present state of things, and surely they must see that so long as they do exist, pillage, fraud, infringement of private right, extravagance, oppressive taxation, all the ills of bad government will be fixed upon them.

But it is not worth while to anticipate the arguments which must naturally be used in the campaign. Enough now to call attention to the Convention, and to hope that it will be well and ably attended; and that the sense of the respective constituencies be ascertained in connection with the selection of the candidate to be chosen.

TOWNSHIP MEETINGS

It is to be hoped that the call in our last to the Voters of Orange County to hold primary meetings to elect delegates to attend a Convention to be held in Hillsboro on the 9th of May, to select candidates for the Legislature, and for County Officers, will be heeded.

It is of prime importance that the county should be fully represented in the Convention, and by its best men. It is known that numbers aspire to the different honors to be bestowed by the people, and that different sections of the country have claims to these honors. These claims can only be reconciled by a full representation of all the different sections, by a fair presentation of these claims, and a fair discussion of the merits of the favorites of the sections.

Much heart-burning, much bitterness of feeling, and much luke-warmness of action have often grown out of the action of conventions, supposed to not flow partiality, and to be influenced by personal motives. Conventions have come to be regarded as packed bodies, and their conclusions as registered edicts of some county autocrat or county clique. This is altogether susceptible of remedy. It is in the hands of the people. Conventions are truly the vehicles for the expression of the popular will. But to apply the remedy, the people must act. They must take interest in their own affairs. They must see that they are fully and fairly represented. They must not take things too much on trust. They must come forth out of their privacy, and recognize not only their right, but their duty to take part in public affairs, and to shape public policy.

Otherwise, if by apathy they suffer the reins to fall into the wrong hands; if they permit the claims of their friends to lie in abeyance; if the party undergoes defeat, and corrupt and oppressive government is perpetuated, they have no one to blame but themselves. They themselves have forged the chains that bind them.

Then come out, and speak and act.

☞ In the preparations for the coming campaign in this State, it appears that the radicals are already seriously divided among themselves in those Districts where they have hitherto ruled. In the Newbern District, there are at least fifteen avowed aspirants for Congress, and among them two or three negroes. All can't be accommodated, and none seem inclined to yield.

Let the Democrats stand to their arms, and they will carry everything before them.

☞ The steamer Europe from Havre to New York, was abandoned at sea, in a sinking condition. The passengers, upwards of 400 in number were all safely transferred to another vessel, but the whole cargo valued at a million and a half went down. The vessel was one of the largest afloat, being 425 feet long.

☞ Hon. R. M. Hunter has been elected Treasurer of Virginia in place of Col. Mayo.

CONNECTICUT ELECTION.

The election on the 6th instant was a complete Democratic victory. Ingersoll, the Democratic candidate for Governor has a clear majority of two thousand over all candidates, and a plurality of six thousand over Hartford, the Republican candidate. Smith, the prohibitionist, received about 4000 votes.

The Legislature is Democratic. The Senate stands 18 Dem. to 3 Rad. and the House is largely Democratic. This secures the election of a Democrat to the United States Senate to replace Buckingham the present incumbent.

This victory, following upon the heels of that of New Hampshire, is full of encouragement to the Democratic party throughout the country. It shows that the license which has been used by the Radicals is bringing its return in the disgust and denunciation of the people. It shows that the sentiment of honesty and justice is not altogether stifled. It shows that the country may be aroused to a comprehension of the corruption of its rulers, and that it has the power to correct abuses. It brings special good cheer to the people of North Carolina, now about to enter upon a political campaign of their own, and is a triumphant answer to the charge that the Democratic party is falling to pieces. The truth is, this party is the only rallying point for the honesty and the patriotism of the land, the only hope of liberty and the preservation of the Constitution.

Let us take courage from the success of others, and not only present a bold front, but press on the wavering columns of the enemy, and the victory will be ours.

THE FINANCIAL BILL.

The Senate by a vote of 21 to 20 has passed the bill fixing the maximum of the issue of greenbacks at $400,000,000, and provides for an increase of the National Bank currency of $16,000,000 making the amount of that currency also four hundred millions.

This would seem to give currency enough. But it would also seem to be a radical error in finance to make the business of a country conform to the currency, and not the currency to the business. It is fastening an unelastic jacket round a child, with no provision for its further growth.

But as far as the South is concerned, expansion is of little moment at present, until it is out of debt, until it learns to sell more and buy less, until it alters its agricultural system, and makes its cotton and tobacco convertible into money, instead of being used merely as a vehicle to pay debts contracted at the North and Northwest. No increase in currency will benefit it permanently, because it will not, and cannot, stay here.

☞ The New York Herald is in great agony over the triumph of the expansionists, and sees nothing in it, but national dishonor, and the triumph of the principles which led to the rebellion. The South has no special guardianship of the national honor, but would not be hasty to bring a stain on it.

The whole truth is, that the demand for expansion grows out of imperative wants for more circulation, and a determination to yield no longer to the domination of New England. It is time that section was called upon too, to make some sacrifices. It has been an unbroken stream of wealth that has flowed in upon her from the firing of the first gun at Sumpter to the present, while the other sections have been made tributary to her and become impoverished.

☞ Early floods in the Mississippi are attended with disastrous consequences. Several crevasses have been made, and many plantations are under water. It is feared that immense damage will be done on the Sunflower, Tallahatchie, and Yazoo bottoms.

☞ A son of the late Dr. R. J. Breckenridge a student at the law school at Lebanon Tenn., was shot and killed by a fellow student, J. L. Anderson. Anderson escaped.

☞ The Tigress, the steamer so well known as the rescuer of the crew of the Polaris, met with a terrible accident lately, while seal fishing. The boiler exploded, killing two engineers, and twenty of the crew.

☞ The Massachusetts contest for Senator still continues. Dawes and Hoar still receive the same number of votes, and the Democrats stick to Curtis. There is no immediate prospect of an election.

☞ In the Municipal elections in Cincinnati, St. Louis, Kansas City, St. Joseph's and elsewhere, the Democratic tickets have invariably been successful. The current is setting that way all over the country.

☞ The franking privilege was discussed in the Senate, on Friday, and there is a probability of its restoration.

TO THE PUBLIC.

THE PAIN-KILLER,

Manufactured by

PERRY DAVIS & SON.

HAS won for itself a reputation unsurpassed in medical preparations. The universality of the demand for the PAIN KILLER is a novel, interesting, and surprising feature in the history of this medicine. The Pain-Killer is now regularly sold in large and steadily increasing quantities, not only to general agents in every State and Territory of the Union, and every Province in British America, but to Buenos Ayres, Brazil, Uruguay, Peru, Chile and other South American States, to the Sandwich Islands, to Cuba and other West India Islands; to England and Continental Europe; to Mozambique, Madagascar, Zanzibar and other African ports; to Australia and Calcutta, Rangoon and other places in India. It has also been sent to Cuba, and we doubt if there is any foreign port or any inland city in Africa or Asia, which is frequented by American and European missionaries, travelers or traders, into which the Pain-Killer has not been introduced.

The extent of its usefulness is another great feature of this remarkable medicine. It is not only the best thing ever known, as everybody will confess, for Bruises, cuts, burns, &c. but for Dysentery or Cholera, or any sort of bowel complaint, it is a remedy unsurpassed for efficiency and rapidity of action. In the great cities of British India and the West Indies Islands and other hot climates, it has become the Standard Medicine for all such complaints, as well as dyspepsia, liver complaints, and other kindred disorders. For coughs and colds, canker, asthma and rheumatic difficulties it has been proved by the most abundant and convincing trials and testimony, to be an invaluable medicine. The proprietors are in possession of letters from persons of the highest character and responsibility, testifying in unequivocal terms to the cures effected and the satisfactory results produced, in an endless variety of cases by the use of this great medicine. That the Pain-Killer is deserving of all its proprietors claim for it is amply proved by the unparalelled popularity it has attained. It is a sure and effective remedy. It is sold in almost every country in the world, and is becoming more and more popular every year. Its healing properties have been fully tested, all over the world and it need only to be known to be prized.

Sold by all Druggists.

☞ Directions accompany each bottle.

Price 25c., 50c., and $1 per Bottle.

INDEPENDENT GRANGE.

Cash System

BEGINS AT THE

BRICK STORE

Monday April 20th 1874.

I HAVE been selling GOODS on my own account for three years and what I have made is on my books, which does me no good. I cannot meet my indebtedness with these accounts.

THE CREDIT SYSTEM

Operates INJURIOUSLY only to the

HONEST MAN.

In doing this credit business, we have to sell goods at MORE THAN THEIR VALUE to the

CASH AND PAYING MEN

to protect ourselves against those who do not pay. We have parties owing us fifty to five hundred dollars who have been owing from two to eighteen months; they come in and price an article and then blow you up, and want to know why it is they can send to Raleigh or some other little town and buy it at a

LESS PRICE.

The reason is, you send the money to pay for it, and have got me tied so fast that I cannot sell you or others at these prices. I am tired of hearing of what can be done at other points.

I shall go to work and

PRICE MY GOODS AT CASH VALUE

AND

SELL AT ONE PRICE.

I want every one that pays for what they buy to help me out in this new undertaking by coming in, and see what difference the CASH system will make in his years supply.

I will take such BARTER as I can handle at CASH prices.

I give this notice in time so as to treat all alike.

I dont want to lose any Customers, but if I do, I do it in self defence. I do it rather than ruin myself.

To my Customers

That have been running accounts and paying promptly, I will say, that it is to your interest to help me out in this matter by paying in future for what you get, the difference in prices will enable you to save 25 per cent in twelve months.

In the first place if you pay Cash you will buy a great deal less than if you had a running account and secondly, you will buy for 20 per cent less. To the party that always pays when they purchase I will say it is the scheme for you.

You have been paying for others' bad debts.

And I am determined now that your money shall bring its worth.

Remember April 20th

THE

CASH SYSTEM BEGINS.

GOOD BARTER TAKEN AT CASH PRICES.

I AM receiving the NICEST line of

SPRING GOODS

That I have yet shown you. Accounts unpaid on April the 20th had better be left looked after they must be settled up some way. MONEY or BARTER, Don't want any notes.

Public Speaking

We are authorized to announce that J. W. Norwood Esq will address the people on the state of our public affairs, at the Court House on Tuesday of the Superior Court.

Mr. Norwood respectfully declines, on account of personal considerations, that his name may not be used in connection with the nomination of candidates to the next General Assembly.

Maj. Robt Bingham will address the people of Hillsboro and Hillsboro Township on Friday evening the 17th inst in the Court House at 8 o'clock.

A full attendance is urged.

Storms & Cool Weather

Very heavy rains on Wednesday night and Thursday morning with much thunder and lightning. The streams were much swollen, but we hear of no special damage. Since the storm, there has been a succession of cold days with heavy frosts and ice. The effect on the fruit is not yet determined.

The Base Ball Match

A friend promised us a description of this game which we relied upon to supply our own ignorance of the subject, we not being present. It has not been handed in and we are compelled to go to press without it.

The Crescent.

We are glad to see this little Evening paper growing in value and popularity. It is one of our most welcome exchanges.

The editorial department is well conducted and displays vigor as well as sound doctrine. The local columns make the Crescent peculiarly attractive. It is well arranged, newsy, spicy, and withal tasteful and judicious. We hope the Crescent may long light up the evening sky to an increasing throng of spectators.

The News

We regret to learn that Maj Dunbar is still confined to his room from the effects of the late operation for his wound and is still unable to take charge of the political columns of the News. The editorial department, mean time, is well sustained, and the News continues, as it has ever been, one of our most agreeable and reliable visitors.

Hillsboro Tobacco Market.

The breaks last week were moderately large, and prices remarkably good, as compared with other markets. Corresponding grades were higher here than elsewhere.

Dark lugs sold at from 3 to 5 dollars, Common leaf from 5 to 6 Good red leaf from 8 to 12 a 13. Bright lugs 6 to 7. Fair bright 30 to 44 dollars.

The demand for wrappers is very good common to medium wrappers much wanted.

Mr. Norwood.

We reinsert the notice given last week of the intention of this gentleman to address the people of Orange. It was formerly the custom of representatives on their return home to issue circulars to their constituents giving an account of their Stewardship. Nowadays, the cost of this method of explanation is too heavy, and the [illegible] becomes necessary.

The occasion will be a good one for the members to [illegible] the people.

Newspapers.

We are in the receipt of the Cartersville Sentinel published at Cartersville Ga. One of its editors is our old townsman O P. Heath. The paper is well gotten up and displays much enterprise, and considerable editorial ability.

The Charlotte Observer has passed into the hands of Jones & Pendleton of the Statesville Intelligencer. We are glad that our able and valued friend Johnstone Jones Esq is retained as Editor.

The Examiner at Raleigh is discontinued. Apart from its politics it was a capital newspaper.

The Era, rad. is now published tri weekly, and we can say the same of that as of the Examiner.

Town Commissioners.

Is it not time to move in the matter of the election of Mayor and Commissioners for the ensuing twelve months? The election takes place on the first Monday in May.

The general police of the town, its good order, the condition of its streets, bridges, culverts &c. make the choice of candidates a matter of importance.

Whatever difficulties the last board of commissioners labored under, and which were urged as an excuse for their non election of duty, have been remedied by the amended charter to a sufficient degree. We want working men; men who do not accept honors to gratify vanity, but who will accept the responsibility of position with all its duties and labors.

SUPERIOR COURT.

Court opened on Tuesday at 2 o'clock P. M., the Judge not having reached Yanceyville till 12 o'clock that day. After the charge to the Grand Jury, the Court adjourned for the day as a matter of respect to the memory of Hon. B. F. Hill, late a member of the Bar at this place, who died on Thursday the 26th March.

Immediately upon the adjournment of the Court, a meeting of the Bar was held, and after feeling eulogies upon the life and characters of Mr. Hill by several members of the Bar, appropriate resolutions were adopted.

On Tuesday night the young ladies and young gentlemen of Yanceyville gave some beautiful tableaux and charades for the benefit of the Baptist Church at this place and the Orphan Asylum at Oxford. Time and space forbid me going into a full description of the scenes and the acting. Suffice it to say, that everything passed off splendidly. I must state however that I have seldom seen a greater array of beauty in any life. While the scenes themselves were beautiful and well selected, yet very much was added to their effect by the surpassing loveliness and grace of the fair ones who participated in them.

During the performances two old widowers and one married man seemed to be enjoying themselves very much with the young ladies. An old countryman standing in the back part of the crowd remarked to a friend, "just look at those lawyers flying around the young girls. They remind me of a pup in high oats."

The State docket occupied the day on Thursday but no cases of importance were tried. Assault and battery and petit larceny were the only matters heard.

On Wednesday night the tableaux were repeated and the same array of beauty appeared. In one of the scenes the "old boy" was a character. The Solicitor was asked to take this part but replied that he had often "played the devil" when he was a young man, but he had grown rather too old and sedate for that now.

On Thursday the State docket occupied the greater part of the day, the civil docket being called up in the afternoon but no cases tried therein. On Friday the civil docket was gone through with. Only one jury case on that docket was tried.

Prices of Tobacco and how much to plant this year were the ruling topics among the people assembled at Court.

Yanceyville seems to be moving on as usual—very few improvements and little prospects of any. As prices of tobacco are pretty high the people are in good spirits and hoping for better times.

J.

MEETING OF TRUSTEES.

The Board of Trustees of the University met at Raleigh on the 9th inst. We have neither time nor space for even a synopsis of proceedings. A report submitted by the Chairman, Col. W. L. Steele, sets forth in a clear, able, and interesting manner the result of the visit of the committee on the part of the Board to Chapel Hill. By the correspondence between this gentleman and Solomon Pool, claiming to be President, it appears that the latter is determined to regard himself as still in office, and to resist the action of Legislature. The attention of the Board is called to this, and subsequently during the progress of the meeting, a resolution was adopted that W. A. Graham, J. J. Davis, and K. P. Battle Esqs. be appointed a committee, with instructions to adopt such measures, and institute such proceedings in the courts, as may determine the question of the legal rights of the Board to control the University of North Carolina.

A resolution was adopted, that the Treasurer of the Board be constituted the custodian of the seal of the University and instructed to demand the same from any one now having possession of the same, and also to demand possession of all the books papers, evidences of debt &c belonging to the University &c &c.

A resolution was also adopted, declaring the Presidency vacant, together with professorships, and that the Board will at convenient time proceed to fill the same.

Mr Mickle the agent appointed by the Board to take charge of the buildings, grounds &c. was directed to demand possession of the same from any person now having charge of the same, and take proper action for their safe keeping of the same.

The report sets forth the condition of the buildings and grounds with painful fidelity. They think the estimate made by Mr. Utley for repairs much under the mark.

The committee were not able to obtain full information in regard to lands belonging to the University. But it appears that it owns valuable lands in Buncombe Henderson and Madison counties, seven or eight hundred acres around Chapel Hill, and valuable tracts in West Tennessee. These with other lands, whose value may afterwards be clearly ascertained, will constitute an important resource in the re-establishment of the institution.

A start has now been made, which we hope will not stop short of successful action.

Repairs.

The Presbyterian Church is now undergoing thorough repair and renovation. Services for the present are held in the Baptist church, now without a pastor.

Mr H. N. Brown is repairing and improving the house so long the residence of Dr E. Strudwick.

P. C. Cameron Esq, is also repairing and beautifying the house, known as the Robertson house, which is to be occupied by a family from abroad.

The Hop

At the barracks on the evening of Easter Monday is described as a delightful affair. We were intercepted on our way by a rain, and therefore unable to record our experience of its pleasures. All who were present concur in the opinion that nothing was wanting to its complete success. An excellent band from Raleigh discoursed most inspiriting music, and the dancing was kept up to a late hour. The attendance of ladies was large enough to give each gallant cadet a charming partner for the dance. Many of the old folks from town were present and were not behind the younger ones in their enjoyment of the scene.

The cadets have reason to be gratified at furnishing to the people of Hillsboro a delightful treat and the revival of a long suspended amusement.

May they be fortunate enough at the appropriate time to enjoy a repetition of their pleasures.

Wilmington Cotton Mills.

We are glad to learn that this company was fully organized on Friday last, a sufficient amount of stock having been subscribed. Messrs. E. Kidder, A. J. DeRosset, F. W. Kerchner, J. H. Chadbourn, Donald McRae, S. N. Martin, and W. A. French were chosen Directors. At a subsequent meeting of the Directors, Mr. Donald McRae was elected President.

History of the Grange Movement.

We have received from the National publishing company, Philadelphia, advanced sheets of this work, which promises to be of immense value to the organizations now looming up as a great power in the land.

A movement which has for its objects such vast and radical changes in the policy of business and which must act momentously upon the two great parties now in existence, should not present itself to popular favor unless fortified with facts, reasons, and arguments upon which to found its claims to favor. No question the Grange movement is one destined to exert great and lasting influence upon the country, perhaps in the end, subvert the parties now in being, temporarily at least.

The work before us seems to contain the knowledge that is needful. It opens with the history of rail-roads—a pleasant and instructive episode—and traces the growth of them from insignificant beginning to their development into the mammoth corporations they became, absorbing, controlling, and tyranizing our every other interest. Their oppressive policy is what first aroused the spirit of resistance in the West. That spirit shaped itself into embodied organization, and out of it grew the Granges of the West, extending thence over the whole land.

Every leading Granger should have the work. Address National Publishing Co. Philadelphia.

C P Myers & co.

The attention of families is specially directed to the advertisement of this firm in to days issue. The house is one of the most complete in the South and offers every possible inducement to house keepers both in the great variety and excellence of the supplies, and on the moderation of prices. The firm are direct importers of many things and are therefore enabled to sell without the intervention of middle men thereby much reducing the cost to the consumer. We are well acquainted with the character of this house and its capacity to fill all orders with satisfaction, and we bespeak for them a large share of up country patronage.

The Well House.

See Ad. this excellent house, at Goldsboro offers special attractions to the up country visitors a good table, low charges and most attentive landlords. Stop at friend Barringers when you go to Goldsboro.

Caution!—In our changeable climate, coughs, colds, and diseases of the throat, lungs and chest will always prevail. Cruel consumption will claim its victims. These diseases, if attended to in time, can be arrested and cured. The remedy is Dr Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry.

Vestrymen Elected

At a meeting of the congregation of St Matthew's church on Easter Monday an election for vestrymen for the ensuing year was had. The following gentlemen were elected: P. C. Cameron, John W. Graham, Thomas B. Hill, James Webb Sr. and Henry K. Nash.

It is acknowledged by many prominent physicians to be the most reliable preparation ever introduced for the relief and cure of all Lung complaints, and is offered to the public, sanctioned by the experience of over forty years. When resorted to in season it seldom fails to effect a speedy cure in the most severe cases of Coughs, Bronchitis, Croup, Whooping Cough, Influenza, Asthma, Colds, Sore Throat, Pains or Soreness in the Chest and Side, Liver Complaint, Bleeding at the Lungs, &c.
